MOST THRILLING DRAMA COMING

Offering at Oak Theatre Will Be
"His Last Dollar" Monday and Tuesday

The famous racing play, "His Last Dollar," with David Higgins in the role originally created by him, will be the screen offering at the Oak theatre on Monday and Tuesday.

"His Last Dollar" is said to be the most thrilling drama of its type ever produced in America, and the Famous Players Film Co. have accomplished a signal achievement in filming this drama of the turf with its star. The success of the original production was so decisive and notable that the title of the play has become a byword in racing circles, and for many years a "David Higgins" has been commonly accepted as representing the last dollar in one's possession.

In the film production, David Higgins' unusual characterization of Joe Braxton, the millionaire ex-jockey, surpasses his impersonation in the stage version, and many scenes, including the exciting situations at the Stock Exchange, and the great race itself, that were only described in the play, are vividly depicted in the film adaptation. In all these Mr. Higgins' versatility is revealed to a marked degree, and his talents as actor and horseman are shown unhampered by the inevitable limitations of a stage production.

MILDEW REMOVED

To remove mildew, wet cloth with soap suds, lay in sun spread with a paste of soft soap and powdered chalk and sun it; soak in buttermilk and sun, or put a spoonful of chloride of lime into a quart of water, strain, and dip the mildewed cloth into it. Repeat if necessary.

SCORCHED MILK

Every housewife knows how easily milk scorches. If everybody would just take this little precaution there would be no scorched milk: Cover bottom of saucepan with water and let get scalding hot before putting in milk to boil. The milk will not scorch.

"BABY MINE" COMING SOON

Howard Fay, the heavyweight comedian is to show his merit as an exciter of laughter next Friday night, at the Lyric theatre in Margaret Mayo's comedy, "Baby Mine." This is the play of joyous humor with which its producer succeeded in making stolid English audiences laugh and enjoyed a run of two years in London. Mr. Fay is said to have an excellent role and those who remember his last appearance, as the robust and rotund trainer in "Going Some" will feel assured of many happy moments in the performance of "Baby Mine."

USEFUL INFORMATION

Tammie Tomson was the "ne'er do well" of a Scottish village. He had been frequently convicted of poaching and other offenses and had paid the penalty in prison. Unwilling to work, he persistently tried all sorts of plans and pleas for exacting money from his townspeople. One day he met the parish minister.

"Mr. R." Tam began insinuatingly. "I've some information to give ye the day that might turn out very usefu' tae ye. But I maun hae half a crown for what I'm gawn tae tell ye—it's worth it a'. I assure ye; it might come in real handy to ye some day."

"I'm hurrying to a funeral. I have no time to stop and listen to your story."

"Oh, but, sir, ye'll be sorry if ye dinna get this hint frae me!"

"Tam, I must go on and keep my appointment, but there's the shilling for you; let me proceed."

"Minister, I'll tell ye for the shilling this time," said Tam in excess of gratitude. "It'll no take ye a minute to hear it. It's this: If ye're pit in the jail, try and get the second cell on the left han'. It's by far the maist comfortable ane o' them a'."

CHICKENS HAVE SENSE

An amusing incident happened last summer. I had a fine flock of chickens in an old garden adjoining the yard. I cared for them, and as it happened no one else went about them for weeks. I was in the habit of taking the fresh air and sunlight remedy—not wearing a hat. One day I went toward the gate with my hat on, and the entire flock took to flight. Relieving myself of the "scare crow" I again went into the yard, and the excitement immediately ceased.

Chickens are quick and alert to every noise, object, and movement. They observe the situation before they venture.

Chickens love and trust their master. They watch and wait for his coming. They understand every movement he makes, and know the general contents of the different vessels he carries. They are intelligent are they not?

HOW A BAD EGG LOOKS

The bad egg is being shoved into a corner these days. The United States Department of Agriculture has made with much pains a colored chart showing a dozen views of eggs fresh and in various degrees of badness. These pictures show just how the egg looks when examined through a candling apparatus, and also after being broken into a glass saucer.

The chart makes perfectly clear just how to successfully candle eggs, the kind of light and easily provided candling devices necessary. While these charts last they can be obtained

SAME OLD TALES

"They tell me that your small boy says some unusually clever things."

"Yes, yes. Did you hear his latest?"

"Sure."

"Why, you never met him."

"True. But I've met a lot of dotting fathers who invariably tell the same old tales."

NOT LOST ANYTHING

The visitor was endeavoring to make himself agreeable.

"I have never seen your daughter," he said, "but I have heard that she is very beautiful. Of course, she gets her beauty from you."

The hostess glanced reflectively into the mirror opposite.

"No, I think not; I think I am still holding my own," she said.

FALSE ALARM

She—Poor Algy suffered so with pains in his head. He thought he had brain fever.

He—And what did the doctor say?

She—He said there was no foundation for it.

JEWELRY TAKES USUAL FORM

Designs for brooches and pendants are steadily getting away from the conventional. Novel setting rule in almost every line for precious varieties. An unusual arrangement for a round brooch consists of a beautiful pearl (round) lying lightly upon an exquisitely toned piece of mother-of-pearl about an inch in diameter. The mother-of-pearl is in a frame of platinum, set with very small diamonds. Another brooch displays a piece of black onyx, with a tiny nest of diamond in the center, the whole surrounded by a rather ornate border of small diamonds.

Long-Felt Want.
